

SINGAPORE ENVIRONMENTAL ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS RECOGNISES GREENEST COMPANIES IN THE REGION

HP PPS Asia Pacific Pte Ltd wins top environmental award

Singapore, August 30, 2018: Fourteen companies and organisations from across the region were honoured today at the 21st annual Singapore Environmental Achievement Awards (SEAA) for their sustainable business practices.

The SEAA winners underwent a robust and thorough assessment by an expert panel, focusing on their ability to achieve breakthroughs in environmental performance through leadership, innovation, procedures and staff training. Singapore’s leading environmental awards programme, the SEAA also takes into consideration an organisation’s environmental impact and positive influence over surrounding communities.

The SEAA is an inclusive award which recognises initiatives by the public and private sectors, small and medium-sized enterprises, and start-up companies.

Technology firm HP PPS Asia Pacific Pte Ltd (HP) received two awards for excellence in environmental practices, including the top honour – the SEC-CDL Outstanding Environmental Achievement Award. The company also clinched the SEC-CITIC Telecom Singapore Environmental Achievement Award (Regional).

Executive Director of the Singapore Environment Council (SEC), Ms Jen Teo said the SEAA recognises the important role companies and organisations play in helping Singapore achieve its sustainability goals.

“The SEAA rewards leading green companies in Singapore and the region for their positive environmental impact and influence in the industry and surrounding communities.”

“Singapore has an ambitious plan to become a sustainability leader in the region. This requires a commitment to energy efficiency, waste reduction and eliminating pollution. The SEAA winners have been successful in improvements in each of these areas.”

“We need to engage corporate Singapore as partners in our drive to make Singapore one of the world’s leading green economies. That is why the SEAA is so important. It recognises organisations that have found innovative ways of doing business in a green way,” Ms Teo said.

Mr Masagos Zulkifli, Minister for the Environment and Water Resources, said: “Businesses play a vital role in Singapore’s sustainability journey. They are able to influence sustainability through their wide network of employees, stakeholders and consumers. By prioritising waste minimisation, water and energy efficiency, they can create new economic opportunities, which support a circular economy. This will not only benefit the companies’ bottom-line but also ensure Singapore remains sustainable for our present and future generations.”

HP PPS ASIA PACIFIC WINS TOP HONOUR

As winner of two awards including the SEAA’s top award, HP can make a strong claim to be among leading green companies in the region. The firm is a global technology leader with a portfolio of printers, PCs, mobile devices, solutions, and services.

The SEAA judges were impressed by HP’s dedication to creating a business that can have a lasting positive impact on the environment. The company is committed to developing and delivering an environmentally sustainable product portfolio, improving the sustainability of its global operations, and partnering with suppliers to reduce their environmental impact.

The HP Straw Pallet Program is an example of the company's shift towards a more efficient, circular and low-carbon economy. HP is working with suppliers to replace wood pallets used to ship its products with pallets made from straw. Using straw pallets helps to improve economic opportunities by opening up a market for straw waste and enhancing the quality of life by reducing air pollution from burning of unwanted straw. This initiative also complements HP's commitment to achieve zero deforestation associated with HP brand paper and paper-based product packaging by 2020.
